

As a business owner of a local HVAC Service Co. for 24 years, I realize the importance of not only providing a quality product, but also an elite service. With the vast number of computer companies to choose from, I continue to call on Ben Townsend and his staff to meet all my computer needs. Whether it has been a restructuring of our entire network at our office with new equipment and software, Web hosting and design, or a simple problem with providing solutions for my personal system with upgrades and general computer assistance, I continue to call on NKOL. Their expertise in providing prompt and efficient service with a solution to all my computing needs has taken the mystery out of this ever-changing technology, which has become a vital part of my business operations and every day luxuries.

Sincerely,
